

2015 Time for Checkup Event Speakers

G. Riley Mills

G. Riley Mills is the co-founder of Pinnacle Performance Company and co-author of The Pin Drop Principle. He has taught effective communication to executives and CEOs in over 30 countries across the globe. Mills has guest-lectured or delivered keynotes at such events and institutions as Columbia University, Association of Training and Development (national conference), London Chamber of Commerce, New York University, Young Presidents' Organization, Cox School of Business, Southern Methodist University, Learning and Skills Conference (London), SHRM (regional chapters), Singapore Management University and Manchester United.

As a writer, Mills has twice been awarded the Joseph Jefferson Citation for Best New Work. His first book, Sawdust and Spangles (written with Grammy-nominated musician Ralph Covert) won a 2007 NAPPA Honor Award and their follow-up project, A Nutty Nutcracker Christmas was profiled in USA Today and on ABC's "Nightline". In 2012, their acclaimed musical, The Hundred Dresses, premiered Off-Broadway at the Atlantic Theatre Company in New York City and was nominated for a 2013 Distinguished Play Award. Mills' writing has also appeared in Fast Company.

As an actor, he appeared on "ER", "Early Edition" and the movie 35 Miles From Normal, which premiered at the 1997 Sundance Film Festival. A member of the Screen Actors Guild, Mills co-founded a not-for-profit company called The Bookwallah Organization, whose sole mission is to collect storybooks, set up libraries and promote literacy in orphanages around the world (www.bookwallah.org).

Steven Harris, JD

Steven Harris has a national reputation as an advisor to business and professional organizations, counsels privately and publicly owned corporations and healthcare clients on contractual and regulatory issues, succession planning, and related transactional matters. He represents clients in acquisitions, divestitures, joint ventures, and contract disputes.

In addition to acting as a business advisor, Steve serves as a member of various boards of directors. Steve also commits substantial time educating the medical profession on business and regulatory matters. Presentations include the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons, the American College of Occupational and Environmental Medicine, Northwestern Memorial Hospital, the University of Chicago Hospital, the American Dental Association, and Illinois Medical Group Management Association (ILMGMA).

Kyle Matthews, CMPE

Practice administrator, volunteer, pilot, referee and millennial are all words that summarize Kyle. Starting at age 12, Kyle volunteered each summer for the Southeast Regional Head Start Training Agency, T/TAS. Kyle started traveling for work at 16 and was running conferences by age 18. In 2003, Kyle began working for AmSurg in Nashville and in 2005, Kyle transferred to the Tempe, AZ office where he began working as Director of Business Operations. This role encompassed overseeing the entire revenue cycle for up to 16 ambulatory surgery centers in Arizona, California, Washington and Wyoming. In 2008, Kyle decided to relinquish the road warrior status and started working for CardioVascular Associates of Mesa (CVAM). Kyle also served one term as Chief Operating Officer of Cardiovascular Management of Phoenix which has brought together 12 practices and over 100 physicians into a consortium of cost-savings, strategy and quality management.

Kyle is also very active in MGMA having served as Treasurer, President-Elect and President of Arizona MGMA and as co-chair for the 2014 4-Corners MGMA Conference. In August, Kyle was named to be a nominee to the MGMA Board of Directors.

E. Jason Tremblay, JD

Mr. Tremblay is a partner in the Arnstein & Lehr Chicago office. He is the chair of the Labor & Employment Practice Group, as well as a member of the firm's Litigation Group. Mr. Tremblay focuses his practice in employment and commercial litigation. In the commercial area, he represents parties in a broad range of complex business and tort litigation matters, including matters involving breach of contract, breach of fiduciary duty, fraud, interference with contract, shareholder disputes and insurance coverage.

In the employment area, Mr. Tremblay has extensively addressed, through counseling, negotiation and litigation, a broad range of key issues critical to the evolving workplace. He has particular expertise representing employers in both federal and state court, as well as administrative tribunals, in a wide variety of lawsuits, including:

- Enforcement of restrictive covenants
- FLSA
- Title VII
- ADA and ADEA discrimination and retaliation claims
- Wage and hour claims
- FMLA interference claims
- Trade secrets
- Unfair competition matters

Mr. Tremblay frequently reviews and drafts employment and independent contractor agreements, severance agreements, employment policies and employee handbooks.

Mr. Tremblay represents a diverse client base, including: financial institutions, universities, municipalities and companies in the information technology, printing, manufacturing, distribution, food and beverage, consulting and retail industries.

Robert John Kane, JD

Robert John Kane, JD is the Assistant Vice President and Legal Counsel for the Illinois State Medical Society and ISMIE Mutual Insurance Company. He also serves as adjunct assistant professor of medical humanities at Southern Illinois University School of Medicine and editor for the Illinois Association of Healthcare Attorneys (IAHA) Annual Survey of Health Law.

Mr. Kane is a graduate of Marquette University and DePaul University College of Law. Mr. Kane was formerly president of the IAHA and president of the American Society of Medical Association Counsel.